

Consultancy Services

The Fund requires, as a general rule and according to the nature of the project to be financed by it, that consultants of a high degree of experience and competence be employed during the various stages of preparation and execution of the project. This applies, in particular, to the preparation of feasibility studies and engineering designs and also to the supervision of execution of the project.

Consultancy services must be procured in accordance with the Guidelines for the Use of Consultants adopted by the Fund, a copy of which may be obtained from it. As stated in the said Guidelines, it is the policy of the Fund to encourage the use of local consulting firms from the recipient country or the State of Kuwait. Equal treatment may be accorded to consulting firms from the country or member countries of a development finance institution which participates with the Fund in financing the same consulting services.
